Hot tip #1

How does 500 Welcome Bonus Vitality Points sound? Just register in the program and complete your Vitality Health Review. How about 1,500? Get on it within 90 days of your enrollment and they're yours. That's a bonus 1,000 points without even breaking a sweat!

How healthy are you?

Take the Vitality Health Review™ to find out.

The trick to being healthy is to embrace it little by little. But you need to know where you are now to know where you're going. The Vitality Health Review (VHR) does just that. It helps you understand your current health with a quick and comprehensive look at how active you are, your daily habits and various other lifestyle factors. All of this informs your baseline and next steps. But don't worry – the results won't affect your premiums in any way.

What you need

To make the quick and accurate review a whole lot quicker, gather these few key pieces of personal information before you start:

- Blood pressure
- Cholesterol levels
- Glucose reading
- Body measurements

Don't have this info on hand? No worries! You have a chance to find out later by scheduling a free Vitality Check™ at your convenience!

When you complete your Vitality Health Review, you'll come across another fun feature: your Vitality Age™. What's that? Keep reading...

“Since signing up for Manulife Vitality I find my health and motivation has become so much better. It's like I'm being held accountable to actively move and I have a way of tracking what I've actually done”

— Jennifer, Manulife Vitality member

What's my age again?

You can't tell how healthy somebody is by the number of candles on their birthday cake.

A person's age can say so much about them, yet it says very little about their health. Well, your Vitality Age speaks volumes.

As a more holistic indicator of your health, your Vitality Age is a measure of your current health based on your current physical condition and lifestyle choices, like eating, sleeping and physical activity. Knowing your Vitality Age helps you understand where you're at right now, so you can set goals to make improvements.

Any way you slice it, the healthier you are, the lower your Vitality Age. It's the baseline from which you can set clear, effective goals, all with the aim of improving your health to lower that number.

Earn points and get rewarded!

We've hinted at the points and rewards you can earn with Manulife Vitality, but now it's time to dig right in to them! Drum roll, please...

What are Vitality Points?

You register, complete your Vitality Health Review, then what? Start earning points!

Earning points is easier than you think

The opportunities are all around! In fact, your habits may already be healthier than you think. From regular visits to the doctor and dentist, to choosing the stairs instead of the elevator, every little move you make adds up. And Manulife Vitality helps you keep score and earn rewards.

Each year, you have the chance to earn over 18,000 Vitality Points (yup, that's 8,000 points more than you need to hit Platinum). And there's a pretty good chance you already do some points-earning activities as part of your regular routine, so high five to that! But we know you can take it to the next level. And you don't even have to hit the gym every day to do so.

Hot tip #2

Choose activities you really enjoy to earn Vitality Points. And be open to trying something different, too! Because you might just discover your new passion along the way.

What's a Vitality Status?

Earn Vitality Points to achieve a Vitality Status

Your progress as a Manulife Vitality member is recorded using a points-based Vitality Status. You guessed it: more points = higher status. As a new member, and at the beginning of each new program year, you begin at Bronze Status and complete activities to earn Vitality Points, helping you level up to Silver, Gold or Platinum.

Each time you reach a new Vitality Status, you'll unlock new discounts and exciting rewards!

So, Vitality Points are your new best friend. And since your Vitality Status is what determines your eligibility for rewards and the potential discount on insurance (if you're a Manulife Vitality Plus member), you're going to be looking for reasons to get out there, earn more points and move to the next level.

Vitality Status levels

Bronze
0 points

Silver
3,500 points

Gold
7,000 points

Platinum
10,000 points

Movin' on up

You start at Bronze status, but you have oh-so-many ways to earn points and improve your status – from prevention to physical activity to online courses.

Your Vitality Status resets at the end of the program year, and you'll get 10% of the Vitality Points you earned in the previous year as a kickstart bonus!

What's a Rewards Status?

Live healthy, earn rewards

If you're a Manulife Vitality Plus member, when you do more, you get more! Ranging from Bronze to Silver, Gold and Platinum, each status level gives you access to rewards; the higher your Rewards Status, the more you can earn and save from partners like Expedia and HelloFresh. (Manulife Vitality Go members can achieve new status levels without increased rewards.)

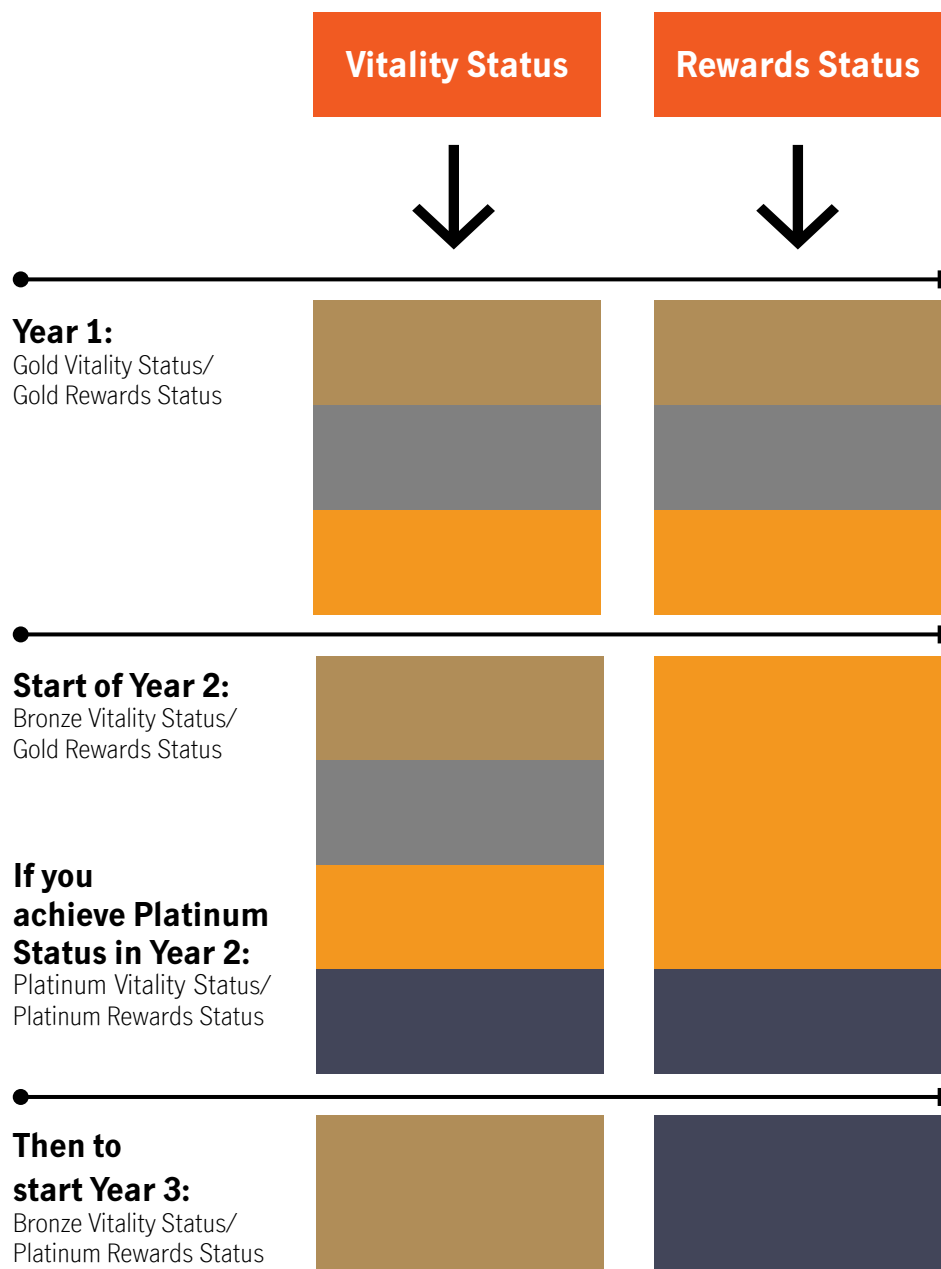

Unlocking the next Rewards Status is a great way to keep you motivated and can help you get the most out of the program by living healthy and always striving for Platinum. Wondering what the difference is between Vitality Status and Rewards Status? We've broken it down further on the next page to help clear things up.

Vitality Status versus Rewards Status

Here's the scoop: you earn Vitality Points to achieve a Vitality Status. And, when you're a Manulife Vitality Plus member, you earn a Vitality Status to earn a Rewards Status and unlock even more rewards.

In your first program year, your Vitality Status and Rewards Status will be the same: If you earn Gold Vitality Status, you'll have Gold Rewards Status. The difference comes in year two. You reset to Bronze to start the year, but you still enjoy the previous year's rewards status – and if you achieve a higher Vitality Status in year two, your Rewards Status will jump, too.

Your first year is a little different. But why?

Why exactly is your first year different? For good reason. The quick answer: to set you up for Year 2. The longer answer needs a little more explanation. Here goes!

		Year 1	Year 2
Term Life	Program Year	10 months	12 months
	Policy Year	12 months	12 months
Health & Dental	Program Year	10 months	12 months
	Policy Year	12 months	12 months

Your first program year with Manulife Vitality is not a full calendar “year.” At the end of Program Year 1 (at the 10-month mark), we’ll take a look at your Vitality Status and, if you’re a Manulife Vitality Plus member, revise your policy discount accordingly for Year 2. We also need to set up Plus members’ Rewards Status for Year 2 – because if you achieve a status above Bronze in Year 1, you retain the rewards of that level to start Year 2.

Policy year versus program year

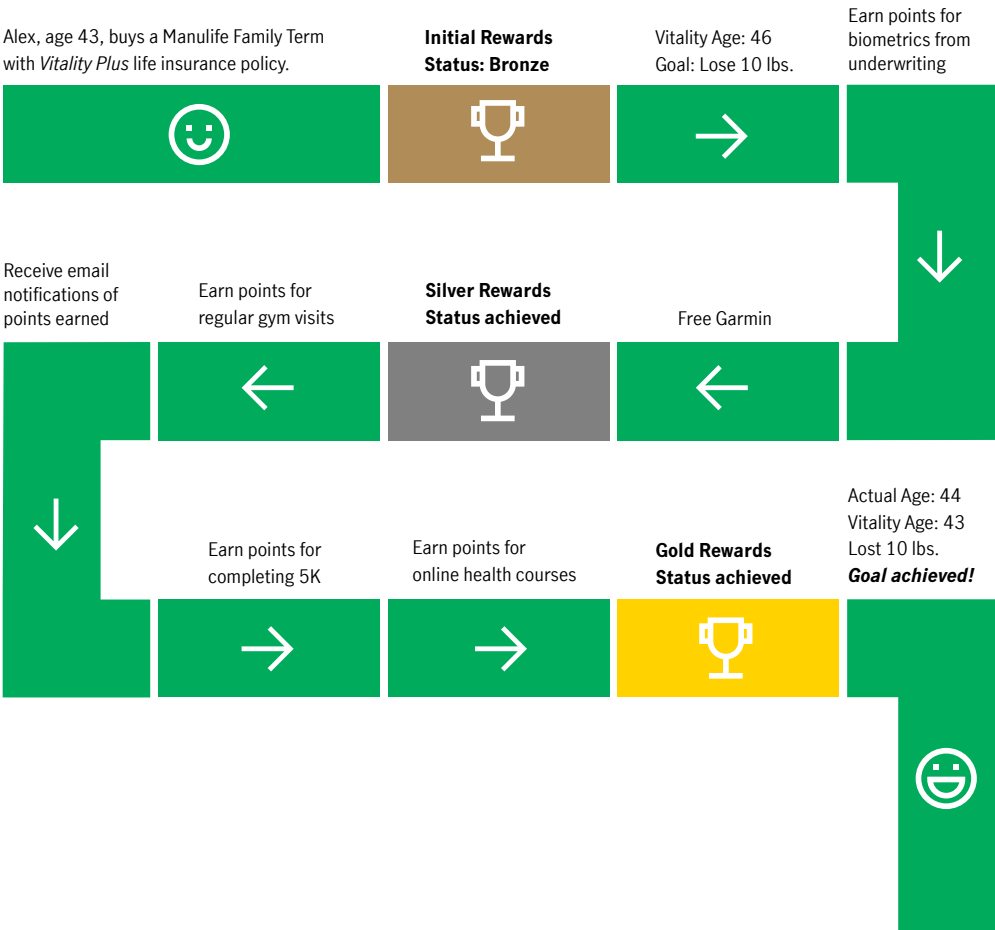

Policy year

The 12 consecutive months following the effective date of your Policy Issue Date, and each 12-month period thereafter.

Program year

Ends two months before the Policy Anniversary, in order to capture your Vitality Status before your Policy Anniversary ends. The program year is a 12-month period in Year 2 and thereafter.

Here’s an example of a program year path:
